VOLUNTEERS ARE BACK HOME AGAIN

CO. F WON HONORS OF WAIIAWA SHOOT

Yesterday was anything but a day of rest at Camp Taft. Early morning movement on foot in preparation for breaking camp. Regrets that the field life was nearly over were heard from all sides. The day was as perfect as could be desired. No intense heat from the sun, and only a trace of dampness along about noon.

Quite a considerable target practice was indulged in notwithstanding the bustle and bustle of packing up.

Captain Sam Johnson went up on the Sunday morning train, to take charge of his department and enjoy the last the grandest outing the National Guards have ever had.

A number of the officers came to town on the train leaving Waiauwa at 4:15 p.m. yesterday. One soldier whose name could not be learned was brought back on the same train on a stretcher, completely covered with a blanket. He was removed from the train at this end to the "hurry-up" wagon. It was reported that he had a severe case of measles.

There has been quite a little sickness in camp, especially from measles, which seemed to pick out the Maui men as special victims. Two or three cases were so bad that they were left behind at the hospital tent, but no serious consequences are looked for.

At the drillshed last night after their triumphal march through the city, headed by Captain Berger and his band, three rousing cheers were given for their officers and the National Guard of Hawaii. Colonel Jones thanked the boys for their general good behavior and cheerfulness in carrying out all instructions while in camp. The Oahu boys then dispersed to their respective homes, while the Maui and Hilo companies took possession of the drill shed to await the departure of steamers for the other islands.

The camp life was anything but play. The amount of valuable instruction absorbed in the short time they were out is wonderful. In the handling of the rifle and marksmanship the men made a showing that they need not be ashamed of.

In speaking of the results of the encampment last night Colonel Jones said:

"The men one and all did their work well, showing an eagerness in their duties that was very gratifying. From the first reveille until bedtime they were busy, but they seemed to be thoroughly enjoying themselves in spite of that. They were orderly and sober and I do not think that anyone at Waiauwa will have the least complaint to make about them. They left Camp Taft reluctantly, and this is not to be wondered at, for we were camped in one of the prettiest places in the whole Territory. The weather was delightful during our stay there, the nights being cool enough to make the men sleep well after their day's work."

Saturday was the day of days at Camp Taft. It was inspection and review day. A few very light showers dampened the grass of the parade ground, but that was the only thing that was dampened. Spirits, health and equipment were at the top notch.

A trifling accident marred the practice shoot for just a few seconds. Sergeant Gouves, like a good soldier, was when the bullets were the thickest; that is, he was in the marker's pit when a spent bullet ricocheted into the pit, striking him in the side. He did not enter so far but what the gallant Sergeant plucked the offender out himself and started for the hospital tent without assistance. Drs. Cooper and Moore were right there with the goods (and bandages) and had him fixed up in a jiffy.

Governor Carter, as commander in chief of the Island militia, reviewed and Major Van Vliet inspected.

The United States War Department demands that an inspection of militia be made at stated periods. And a thorough inspection it is, too. Strength, efficiency, equipment, discipline and camp paraphernalia are given a most thorough looking into and a report made to headquarters.

Just back of the camp is a most ideal parade ground, and it was there that the review and inspection were held.

The maneuvers were up to date in every particular, and the discipline so near perfect that one wonders at the thoroughness.

The Governor expressed himself well pleased with the appearance of the camp from the point of clearness.

Secretary Atkinson and Captain Chamberlain of the regular army accompanied the Governor and Major Van Vliet during the discharge of their official duties.

Four First Places Won By Capt. Johnson's Company

According to Col. Jones of the National Guard, the recent encampment was by far the most successful which has ever been held in the Hawaiian Islands. The target shooting was by long odds the most prominent feature of the work done and the scores made were very satisfactory. Who all the best shots were has not been determined yet. Col. Jones is having the scores made up and they will soon be ready for publication.

Saturday was inspection and the boys were given plenty of work by Major Van Vliet, of the Truth Infantry, who allowed nothing to escape his notice, making the most rigid inspection

Women Avoid Operations

When a woman suffering from female trouble is told that an operation is necessary, it, of course, frightens her.

The very thought of the hospital, the operating table and the knife strikes terror to her heart.

It is quite true that these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but a great many women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after an operation has been decided upon as the only cure.

The strongest and most grateful statements possible to make come from women who by taking

made from native roots and herbs, have escaped serious operations, as evidenced by Miss Rose Moore's case, of 307 W. 36th St., N. Y. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham: "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured me of the very worst form of female trouble and I wish to express to you my deepest gratitude. I suffered intensely for two years so that I was unable to attend to my duties and was a burden to my family. I selected and dosed with only temporary relief and constantly objecting to an operation which I was advised to undergo. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it cured me of the terrible trouble and I am now in better health than I have been for many years."

This and other such cases should encourage every woman to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before she submits to an operation.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised.
